So what's it all about?

THE
rapidinchloss
CLINIC

Our non-surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction makes losing inches from areas of your body such as your belly, hips, arms, legs and back easy! Those stubborn fatty areas of your body you would like to change will become flatter and firmer, in as few as 12 sessions of completely painless Ultrasonic Liposuction. You will be massaged, twice a week with ultrasound by our qualified, experienced consultants, ensuring you are looking and feeling fabulous!

We use Ultrasound technology similar to the kind used to carry out baby scans in hospitals, we even use the same gel. During the painless therapy all you will feel is a nice, warm sensation. This warm sensation is the fat turning to liquid and beginning to drain from your body.

As the Ultrasound passes through the fat cells inside your body it causes them to vibrate against each other, this causes the fat inside to change from a semi-solid state and to become a liquid. Once liquefied, the fat will begin to drain from the cell. The fat then passes through the lymph node system and exits the body through the digestive system in the normal manner. The fat will continue to drain from the body for the next 72 hours. To maximise lymph drainage and achieve the best results we recommend increasing activity levels to increase blood circulation.

Your consultant will chart your success and let you know exactly how many inches you have lost since your last session by measuring your target area before each treatment. We expect clients will need somewhere between 8 – 12 sessions per area to achieve their goals. You should allow 30 minutes per appointment and 3 days should be allowed between treatments.

Fan wins 25,000-1 chance to be mascot

A YOUNG football fan got a once-in-a-lifetime chance to escort his favourite players onto the pitch at the Emirates Stadium.

Lucky eight-year-old William Hammond, from Luton, was chosen at random from more than 25,000 young Arsenal fans to be a mascot for the team's 5-1 win against West Ham at the end of last month.

William, who escorted Olivier Giroud onto the pitch, said: "It was brilliant to have been chosen to be the mascot and to walk the team out onto the pitch. I got to go into the dressing room and to meet all the players too, I just couldn't believe it."

Bid to block protests in town centre

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A CAMPAIGN group has expressed concerns that a new council policy on the use of town centre public space could hinder groups with 'legitimate and lawful protests'.

Unite Against Fascism (UAF), which stands in opposition to groups such as the British Freedom Party and the English Defence League (EDL), has said that Luton Council's policy could inadvertently affect other groups even though it's aimed at preventing problems.

In the past few years protests held by the English Defence League in the town have led to widespread financial loss to local businesses and disruption to residents.

The new policy spells out the council's intention of opposing events in the town centre they deem as negatively affecting the community and harming the town's reputation.

Councillors approved it during a meeting at the town hall on Monday. It applies to St George's Square and Market Hill which have been designated as 'public open spaces' and Manchester Street, Town Hall Square, George Street and Park Square which are 'public highways'.

In May last year the EDL and the UAF were banned from using St George's Square during an EDL march.

The EDL held its gathering on Park Street whilst UAF assembled in Wardown Park.

According to an agenda item from Monday's meeting, the policy's implementation will be led by the council-led Safety Advisory Group and 'reviewed after 12 months in light of experience and the views of Luton's diverse communities'.

Raymond Bennett, from the UAF, said: "We are in favour of groups like the EDL being excluded from the town centre but we are concerned that this blanket policy might stop legitimate and lawful protests.

"The EDL are bent on dividing people and they are an attack on our democracy.

"So we support the policy but I would also call for caution because it can disrupt people with legitimate protests."

A spokeswoman for the council said: "The council is doing everything it can to discourage disruptive protests in the town centre within the context of the Human Rights Act.

"Large scale protests disrupt community cohesion and have a negative impact on the town's reputation as well as having a negative financial impact on local businesses.

"The policy provides a clear and positive statement of the activities that will be permitted in town centre open spaces and enables us to work with our partners in the private and public sectors to minimise disruption."

She added: "Where proper notice of public procession has been served on the police, the council will do everything in its power to minimise the impact and disruption on the community. However, the emphasis will be on negotiating with the group."

Luton on Sunday was unable to contact the EDL.

Childcare plans 'going in the wrong direction'

BY ADAM GRINSELL
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

A SCHOOL has hit out at Government plans to allow nurseries to employ fewer staff.

Under reforms announced on Tuesday, January 29, the ratio of children to carers and nursery teachers could be raised.

Children's Minister Liz Truss said the plans are to enable childcare to become cheaper, and for more places to become available.

But the principal at Luton's King's House Preparatory School and Nursery has criticised the plans, saying they are 'going in the wrong direction' and could lead to health and safety risks.

Dr Andrew Cook said: "To us this policy is not productive because there's no guarantee that if you reduce staff this saving will be passed on to the parents.

"We are happy with the current regulations and think they are just about right.

"If you reduce the number of staff working with kids it can result in a potential health and safety breach because you have more being looked after by one person.

"I think that approach is going in the wrong direction and would lead to a decline in standards, not an improvement.

"That's why we have said to our parents that whatever happens we are staying with our current set-up.

"When we told parents about our plans they were very happy about it."

The Government has said the children-to-carer ratio can only be raised if carers' qualifications meet new standards.

But despite this the Pre-School

Learning Alliance is reporting more than 11,000 parents UK-wide have already signed a petition against the proposals.

Dr Cook, from the High Street Leagrave-based school, added: "The Government has pointed to the continent for examples of how this works, but if you look at the continent there are a number of countries actually looking at what we already do and thinking about changing. So the Government could end up going in a different direction to the continent it's using as an example.

"What our Government needs to do is look at how sensible each regulation is. You can have ten or 10,000 regulations but the key is looking at how they are working in practical terms.

"The most important thing is that they create the right conditions for the child."

MP leads inquiry into laws on the UK sex trade

AN INQUIRY into whether the law on prostitution should be changed has been launched.

The investigation, which will be presented to the Home Secretary in June, is being led by MP for Luton South Gavin Shuker, who chairs the All Party Parliamentary Group on Prostitution and the Global Sex Trade.

He and his team are hoping to find out whether a change in the current legislation could better protect communities, and women and children at risk of exploitation.

Mr Shuker said: "The law fails to protect local communities from both anti-social behaviour, and women, who for a number of reasons end up selling sex to people who manipulate their vulnerability.

"The Government has said, for example, that more than half of all prostituted women began under the age of 18 when they could not have legally consented."

Currently under UK law prostitution is itself not illegal, but associated activities such as soliciting, kerb-crawling, pimping and brothel ownership can be. But enforcement of this legislation varies between police forces and local authorities.

Last month a suspected brothel was shut down by Bedfordshire Police on Buxton Road, Luton, for three months under the Sexual Offences Act.

In Luton, Mr Shuker has been working with councillors and Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins to see what more can be done to help residents who are affected by the sex trade, and to help women to get out of it.

newsbriefs

UNSAFE CHICKEN IS DISCOVERED
FOOD officers have removed a large amount of raw chicken unfit for human consumption. Luton Council officers discovered an unapproved meat cutting operation in a shed in Dallow. It lacked even the most basic food handling facilities.

The shed contained 'many' bags of meat waste, more than 200 empty meat crates as well as bags of bones, suggesting the operation had been there for some time.

Cllr Mohammed Ashraf, portfolio holder for public health, said: "Any meat business operating outside the law jeopardises consumers' health as well as the financial wellbeing of our law abiding businesses. Poor meat operators only exist because a few unscrupulous and money-greedy food businesses are willing to disregard their moral and legal duties to their customers."

THE MALL'S HMV WILL CLOSE
THE town's HMV will be closing within the next few months after the company's administrator announced 66 of the music retailer's UK stores will shut.

All jobs at the store, in The Mall, will be lost, along with around 930 staff around the country.

Joint administrator Nick Edwards said: "As part of our ongoing review of HMV's financial position, we have now completed a review of the store portfolio and have identified 66 loss-making stores for closure. This step has been taken in order to enhance the prospects of securing the business' future as a going concern.

"We continue to receive strong support from staff and are extremely grateful to them for their commitment during an understandably difficult period."

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL COURSES
A GROUP of budding footballers from the Saints area have been enjoying training with professional coaches thanks to a new scheme.

Your Say, Your Way allows residents to give their opinion on funding, and vote on the allocation of Luton Council money.

Thanks to £1,140 of funding applied for by the Saints Users Committee, 20 young people were able to take part in quality weekly coaching sessions at the Saints Community Centre for six months.

Ed inquest adjourned

HATTER: Ed Gillespie was a Luton Town supporter

AN INQUEST into the death of a 38-year-old Luton man who went missing after an office Christmas party in Essex was opened and adjourned earlier this week.

Edward Gillespie was last seen at a hotel at Roydon Marina near Harlow, Essex, on December 21.

His body was recovered from the water on January 26.

Essex coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray opened and adjourned the inquest in Chelmsford on Monday.

In a statement, his mother Jane Gillespie thanked the police for their support.

Mrs Gillespie said: "No words can express my feelings at the moment. 'I doubt if I will ever come to terms with the loss of Ed but I have drawn some small comfort over the past weeks from the kindness and help that so many people have shown me. 'I would like to thank the police for everything they have done since Ed first went missing and everyone else who helped in the search for him. 'I would also like to thank people for their thoughts and prayers and the support of all Edward's friends."

Council considers £25 rubbish collection fee

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

PLANS to charge residents £25 for large rubbish collections could lead to an increase in fly tipping, a councillor has warned.

Liberal Democrat leader Councillor David Franks has said Luton Council's proposals to charge for bulky waste collections from households will force people to dump their rubbish instead.

The authority is considering charging £25 per visit for up to three items and it is hoped this will reduce the service cost from £200,000 to £150,000.

Previously the council had picked up items such as old furniture and electrical appliances free of charge.

The plans were discussed during Monday's Executive meeting where councillors also approved a kerbside nappy recycling service.

Cllr David Franks said: "This is a big mistake as many residents who either cannot afford the charge, or just do not want to pay, will resort to dumping their old furniture wherever they think they can get away with it.

"The result will be a town which looks like a dump and extra costs for the council in clearing up the fly tipping.

"By reducing the number of vehicles on the service from two to one they must be expecting to collect less than they do now.

"Clearly the stuff they do not collect will end up somewhere.

"Some people may take their old furniture to a council tip but many households do not have access to a big enough vehicle and the council make it difficult through their restrictions on vans at the two tips.

"Add all this to the cuts in street cleaning and we're heading for a Luton which will be much less comfortable to live in."

A council spokeswoman said: "Every year the cost of disposing of waste goes up as landfill tax set by the Government increases by £8 per tonne per annum.

The current rate is £64 per tonne of waste sent to landfill.

"Last year the amount of waste the council sent to landfill was over 47,000 tonnes which cost £2.6million and by the end of this financial year with the increase in tax we expect the cost to rise by a further £376,000."

She added that other authorities who charged for this service had 'not experienced a significant increase in fly tipping'.

MPs divided over gay marriage bill

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE bill for same-sex marriage has split the town's MPs, it has emerged.

On Tuesday MPs met in the House of Commons to debate the controversial Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Bill and voted in favour by 400 to 175.

Luton North MP Kelvin Hopkins voted in favour of allowing couples of same sex to be married whilst Luton South MP Gavin Shaker abstained.

In a statement released after the vote, Kelvin Hopkins said: "Couples who love each other and want to make a long-term commitment to each other should be able to marry, regardless of their gender or sexuality."

However, Mr Shaker has expressed his reservations over the effectiveness of the Government's 'quadruple lock' against rulings by the European Court of Human Rights.

In a post on his official website he said: "A number of constituents have contacted me about same-sex marriage, ahead of the vote at second reading – and subsequent to it."

"The bill seeks to redefine marriage to incorporate same-sex couples; both in so-called 'civil' contexts – and in religious institutions who choose to 'opt-in' to the new definition."

"In common with all major pieces of legislation, there will be a series of votes on this issue."

"Despite talk of a 'quadruple lock' to protect religious conscience, these measures are themselves subservient to judgements of the European Court of Human Rights (ECHR).

"I remain concerned that a successful legal challenge could be brought as a result of the changes that would result in people of religious conviction being forced to solemnise marriages under this new definition."

"This is contrary to the government's stated ambition."

"Consequently, I have concluded that I cannot support the legislation as it moves through the House of Commons, and will not be voting for it."

Elsewhere, South West Bedfordshire's Conservative MP Andrew Selous, whose constituency covers Dunstable, voted against the bill.

■ Here is what you had to say about the issue on Twitter:

@DanHeley1: I think finding right line between equal marriage and preservation of religious beliefs key. Fair for @gavinshaker to abstain

@John_Pile: If people are happy and in love, let them get on with it. It's nothing to do with me or anybody else

@MartyHowes: The bill is drafted carefully to preserve religious freedoms, so it's disappointing our MP Gavin Shaker won't support it

Skills fair builds 'aspiration'

MORE than 1,000 people attended a skills fair held in the town on Tuesday.

The Luton Employment Training and Skills (LETS) fair, held at Venue Central on Chapel Street, saw more than 40 organisations from the town set up stalls where residents could network and meet prospective employers.

It was organised by Mostaque Koyes, from the Bartham Group and Councillor Tafheen Sharif in conjunction with various partners.

Mr Koyes said: "It was a community led event and we did it so we could build confidence among people. We found that when someone is unemployed it's about showing some belief in them so they can go out there and do something."

Cllr Sharif said: "We have managed to engage with corporate employers and residents and hopefully it can lead to something for those who came."

"It was about building aspiration and giving one-on-one advice. The attendance showed there is a demand for such things."

OPPORTUNITY: A group of visitors at one of the stalls

US firms want app created by Nina, 14

BY ADAM GRINSELL
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

A SCHOOLGIRL has developed her own app using a £10,000 investment from an entrepreneur – and is now in talks with American companies about the idea.

Prompt Me Nina was created by 14-year-old Nina Devani from Luton after her father Atul fell victim to German internet hackers. His Facebook account was breached, meaning he had to change dozens of passwords across a number of different websites.

Realising how difficult it was for him to remember so many new details Nina, a pupil at St Albans High School for Girls, developed her app which creates personalised 'prompts' to remind people of their multiple passwords.

She said: "It caused him a lot of stress and as I watched him pulling his hair out, trying to come up with dozens of unique new passwords and remember them, I suddenly thought there has to be an easier way.

APPY GIRL: Nina, 14, who has developed Prompt Me Nina

"I realised people don't like to write down their passwords, even in an app designed to remember them, in case it somehow falls into the hands of hackers.

"So I decided my app would be all about prompts which are unique to each user and mean something only to them.

"I thought it would be fun to put myself into the brand so it quickly became Prompt Me Nina."

The application was developed with a £10,000 cash investment from internet entrepreneur Suleman Sacranie, who she met through a school project.

And now the inventive teenager is in talks with firms in Silicon Valley in California, which are interested in developing her app for the US marketplace.

Nina said: "Suleman is in his 20s so he was a business leader I could relate to. I admired him for what he had achieved with 99pWholesaler.com, which led to him being named Young Entrepreneur of the Year when I interviewed him for my school project.

"He'd been really friendly and approachable so I didn't hesitate to make contact with him again with the idea for Prompt Me Nina.

"I've got quite a hectic life at the moment with my GCSEs and my commitments to the Sea Cadets and Duke of Edinburgh award, so most of my lunch breaks are spent answering business emails.

"It's my dream to go to America and expand my business in the world's biggest technology hot spot. There has been interest and we are talking to people over there, but my parents may take some convincing.

"Whatever I decide, I know that they will support my decision."

Authority must watch spending

SIR - Are we all in it together? I had a letter from Luton Borough Council stating that they had to save £48 million (of our money) over the next three years on such things as bus travel, concessionary bus passes, parks/ street cleaning - the same old chestnuts.

Looking at the figures they quoted (and my maths is not that great) if they just save on one of the above that only saves about £1-£4m over three years.

It's just a drop in the sea but when I read Luton on Sunday last week I couldn't believe the article on the council's credit card spend.

I thought you paid for whatever you spent out of your own pocket and then claimed it back at the end of the month, provided you had a receipt?

Are there anymore jobs like this at the council? It's just a licence to spend money.

There is us trying to save a bob or two and these comedians are spending it as fast as we save it.

In it together we're not.

Name and address supplied

Thank you for being generous

SIR - Twenty-five years ago today I leapt on to your TV screens with a big Red Nose on my face and asked you to part with your hard earned cash to help some people in Africa you'd never met.

It all starts with a handshake at the council

SIR - I just had a few brandies and then read Steve Lowe's column in your newspaper.

He does not seem to love anybody.

As he has been a county councillor he must understand all the fundamentals of obtaining and running public offices.

The first obligation is the right handshake.

As I am an ex-professional boxer few people wish to shake hands with me in case I misjudge their intentions.

But Steve Lowe's most certainly aware of cushy council and government posts.

I could have joined this paternal fraternity many times but I did not have the correct handshake.

Governmental and councils issues have to be decided and organised so we need the best operatives and the best financiers.

Obviously they will act in their own interests as well as those of their employers.

So high salaries have to be paid to avoid the problems of dysfunctions happening.

I sob, especially when highly paid councillors fail to attend meetings that they are paid to attend. My rates have escalated, perhaps the councillors can tell me why? George L Donohoe

Axe Close, Luton

Much to my amazement and delight, you did!

The first ever Red Nose Day raised an impressive £15 million pounds, thanks to you fine folk sitting on your sofas in the South East.

Over the years Red Nose Day has raised an extraordinary £600 million to help fund some amazing projects in Africa, but also right here on your doorstep in the UK.

From young carers to women experiencing domestic violence, from older people living in isolation to families living in extreme poverty - a real difference has been made. And these are just some of the many ways your money has helped change lives.

A mahoosive thank you to the people of the South East - keep up the good work!

His and hers is no laughing matter

IT has often been said that men are from Mars and women from Venus. This is never more true than when preparing for a holiday.

We recently scooted off to East Asia to get away from the snow and cold turkey, in preference to steamy heat and fried tarantulas. And, of course, we had to pack. There is now a limit, thank the God of travel, to the amount one can take. This idea has no effect on the present Mrs Lowe, who believes such rules do not apply to her. It's as well we were not visiting the Philippines, or they would have believed the lost love-child of Imelda Marcos had returned, complete with shoe wardrobe.

The next point is I had packed two days before the holiday began, which for some reason is extremely irritating. There is an unwritten rule that all suitcases must remain open until ten minutes before departure. Then, as I haul the cases down to the front door, there is a reminder of all my previous packing misdemeanours.

I won't go into them all but Budapest seems to grate more than the others.

We had driven across Europe to the Hungarian capital and, having ensconced ourselves into a hotel, I mentioned my underpants stock was getting a little low.

In response to some tart questions, I admitted I had only packed three pairs and had worn all of them, both normal and inside-out. Women get vexed over such trifles. I said I would wash them out and disappeared into the bathroom to undertake my laundering duties.

I took some soap from her washbag but it would not give a decent lather.

My bemoaning of the same brought her to the bathroom, to give a look of horror as I was apparently cleaning the crotch of my pants with her Clinique facial bar.

Soap's soap I moaned as I was being beaten half to death. I nearly said Camay was good enough for your family when you were young but realising we were on the fifteenth floor, thought better of it. I digress.

Once at the airport, which was heaving with people, mainly because flights were being cancelled left and right, Mars and Venus take on different stances. I want to get to the departure lounge as soon as it is called, while the wife wants to linger until the last moment, not wishing to seem too eager. The final difference exposes itself when I get punched for daring to fall asleep on take-off.

LUTON'S one-day carnival is the largest in Europe. It is a fantastic event, which shows off the town's diversity, culture and sheer sense of fun.

This year it is being moved from the traditional Bank Holiday Monday to Sunday May 26. This is still part of the Bank Holiday weekend and is being done to save money. I have no objection to it being a Sunday or to the council saving money.

But, according to the council, it will save money by reducing staffing costs. I admit to being somewhat perplexed as to why staffing costs will be cheaper on the Sunday rather than the Monday but the council does move in mysterious ways.

All I hope is the weather this Spring will be much kinder than last year, when it never stopped raining. Let's hope so and let's enjoy what will be a great day.

College principal calls for more skills training

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE Government's official schools' exam league tables do not assess 'the right things', according to principal of Luton Sixth Form College

Chris Nicholls was responding to last month's school league tables which showed that only three per cent of the college's pupils had achieved two As and a B in the subjects most sought after by top universities.

The national figures showed that around 594 of the 2,540 colleges that teach A levels had students who did not achieve an A or B in the 'facilitating' subjects.

These are subjects which have been identified as being favoured by universities such as Oxford and Cambridge.

They are maths and further maths, English literature, physics, biology, chemistry, geography, history and languages.

Mr Nicholls said the figures highlighted the wrong things, pointing out that the Sixth Form's overall AAB results at A level were 42 per cent and that around 75 per cent of its pupils went on to university every year.

He also said they were misleading since students did not need to take three 'facilitating' subjects but could do two instead.

MAKING THE GRADE: Chris Nicholls

He said: "What is wrong with the Russell Group measure is that it only looks at ten subjects. It's not assessing the right things."

"We have a choice of about 60 subjects at our college so it means the more choice a college has the less likely a student is to choose a facilitating subject."

"As a college we want to get the students to the best university they are capable of going to."

"For some it's Cambridge and for some it's not."

"The measure of having the three subjects is not helpful in this sense."

"I think the number of students that go to university and then actually achieve what they wanted to do in their career would be a better way of looking at a college's achievements."

"We are not here to meet government targets but to help our students do the best."

"During our open evenings I don't think I have had a parent approach me and say 'I see you haven't got this in the league tables or you haven't got that'."

Mr Nicholls, who also teaches economics at the college, said he thought that the education system as a whole needed to move away from focusing only on academic achievement.

He said: "We need to look at vocational education and skills-based education more than we do."

"I've been in education for more than 30 years and I've seen that we don't value vocational and skills-based training enough."

"In some cases we value something with a degree in history more than a more skills-based qualification."

"But we need to recognise that someone with skills in engineering, for example, has something to offer as well."

PCC to learn from victim experience

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

POLICE boss Olly Martins wants to communicate directly with victims of crime and 'make sure we're learning the lessons of their experiences'.

The Police and Crime Commissioner was speaking after his plan to save the jobs of police and community support officers (PCSOs) was approved by Bedfordshire Police and Crime Panel.

He had previously announced that he would raise the police precept to support PCSOs facing the axe.

The precept is the money taxpayers contribute to the Bedfordshire Police force and from April it will rise by two per cent, which equates to an extra six pence a week for the average Band D household.

During a patrol with PCSOs in the town on Wednesday Mr Martins told Luton on Sunday that his plan for tackling crime in Bedfordshire would centre around 'protecting the public, partnership working and prevention'.

He said: "Protecting the public is looking at improving the response of the police and other agencies give to anti-social behaviour.

"There are going to be things such as improved IT systems and they are going to help them pick up on repeat victimisation a lot easier than they do at the moment.

"Partnership working will include getting a holistic and joined-up response to victims of crime, particularly where there are witnesses going through the criminal justice system.

"So that's all about information sharing between the different agencies so that the victim doesn't have to keep giving the same information to different agencies repeatedly."

Mr Martins also said he wanted to 'tackle the underlying causes of crime' and extend the county's Integrated Offender Management program.

He added: "At the moment it just works with a narrow group of offenders but it's not capturing the sort of the offenders that are causing the highest level of harm."

A little goodwill to

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

IN THESE difficult social and economic times much has been made about the selfish behaviour of individuals working in some of our nation's key institutions.

Listening to discussions surrounding the various misdemeanours, and sometimes criminal activities, of bankers, politicians, police officers and the like, it is understandable how one can begin to develop a pessimistic and cynical attitude towards life.

So it's refreshing to see local communities, and especially young people, band together to make a difference, however small it may be.

Towards the end of last year Diverse FM and the Mitale Youth Association pooled their resources and decided to support causes in the town.

They nominated Age Concern as one of their charities of the year and after raising £4,000 as a donation, they went a step further and packed 100 food boxes to give away.

What was the thinking behind it?

Mugsy Koyes, the training manager at Diverse FM, said: "We got together a cluster of 'NEET' young people. These are kids who are not in employment, education or training.

HAND OVER: Fahad Abdi from Diverse FM, Heidi Dyke from Bedfordshire Pilgrims Housing Association and Kwaku Adjei from Age Concern

"We wanted to empower them to take ownership and have them involved in projects such as this.

"And they themselves wanted to give back to the community and the people of Luton.

"It was about bringing people together, removing the boundaries between different cultures and we wanted to get this food out to the elderly people in the community.

"In the end there were about 30 young people working on the project."

Over a period of four weeks they collected as much food as they could and then presented it to Age Concern with a brief that the charity could donate it to people they thought needed it the most.

Mr Koyes added: "The difference projects like this make is that it brings opportunities for young people to develop their skills and reach out.

"Whilst we were doing this I had some of the young people say how fortunate they were to be having a family meal every night, which is not something everyone has.

"It opened their eyes and gave them leadership skills because they really wanted to be at the forefront of this."

Age Concern selected elderly residents at Jill Jenkins Court, on Whipperley Ring, as the beneficiaries of the young people's generosity.

They handed it over during a presentation on Thursday.

Kwaku Adjey, a service manager at Age Concern said the donation came as a 'surprise' to them but it would make a 'massive difference' to an age group that can often get marginalised in society.

He said: "I think this type of work is good for making improvements to our local community and we hope the residents enjoy the benefits of the hard work done by the youngsters.

"It makes a massive difference because in these difficult times young people don't need to be marginalised and the work they are doing shows we are all capable of helping other people and that we can do something positive for the town.

"It was also good for the young and old to meet in this kind of setting because they both have a lot to offer.

"Some of the elderly people my organisation works with are very capable of handling themselves and they do amazing voluntary work. Hopefully we can do more of this in the future."

Hayley's charity ride in memory of gran

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

A CYCLIST riding from London to Paris in memory of her gran hopes to raise more than £1,400 for the charity.

Hayley Matcham, 22, from Stopsley, who works at Thomson Holidays on St George's Street, will be cycling to France from the capital on June 5.

She will be cycling on behalf of Dementia UK, a charity that tries to improve the quality of life for sufferers.

Her grandmother died during her childhood and she said the memories she has of her are 'not really good ones'.

Hayley said: "When I was younger my nan used to live with us and she had dementia.

"She had no support in those days and she died when I was eight so the memories I have are not really good ones.

"This charity promotes the kind of support my nan could have benefited from and that's why I'm cycling for them.

"I don't want other kids to grow up remembering any of the family members with dementia in the way that I did with my nan."

Hayley said she was always sporty as a child and grew up participating in athletics and

READY: Hayley Matcham says her grandmother's experience has led her to support the work of charities such as Dementia UK also football. She even turned out for the Luton Ladies football team.

During the cycle she will be expecting to cover around 500km in five days.

She said: "Cycling has always been an interest for me.

"For my training I do a lot of swimming and I do it about five times a week.

"My general training has increased gradually and I do more miles on the bike. It has been going well and my fitness is good.

"I have been cycling for a few years and I have also been doing spinning classes so they have kept me fit.

"There were a few choices in the UK of where I could have cycled but I thought if I am going to do this I might as well really go for it!

"There will be a big group of us going so we will have support vehicles with us on our way and the road has already been pre-planned so it will be fine."

Council needs you to help tackle potholes

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE council is calling on residents to help it tackle potholes in the town by reporting them to its highway maintenance department.

Luton Council this week sent out two 'seek and repair' gangs in a bid to identify the current scale of the problem and organise repair work.

The authority has had 111 potholes reported this winter.

It is investing around £2.5million in 2012/13 on road maintenance, including a resurfacing programme and carriageway repairs that are undertaken throughout the year.

As part of this work, four council highway inspectors will be checking on the condition of the borough's roads and scheduling appropriate works.

On Monday two crews were put into operation following the recent cold spell and they were working in addition to the authority's normal quota of highways maintenance crews.

It is the third time in four years this has been done.

Councillor Dave Taylor, the portfolio holder for highways, said: "Road users in Luton may have noticed more potholes on the highways network in recent days.

BUMPY: A roundabout in Wigmore

"This is because snow and ice causes damage to the road surface as water gets into the small cracks caused by traffic.

"When the temperature drops the water freezes, and then when the temperature rises again it thaws.

"This continuous process causes cracks to widen, and voids to form, eventually leading to potholes caused by the load of passing vehicles."

The council said the colder winter weather we are experiencing led to the decision to send out 'seek and repair' gangs from its contractor Volker Highways to identify potholes and carry out immediate repairs.

It said that any reported potholes that are more than 50mm deep and 150mm wide would be made safe or repaired within 24 hours.

Inspectors also assess if it would be more cost effective to repair a stretch of road rather than repeatedly repair individual potholes.

Cllr Taylor added: "Maintaining the quality of Luton's road network is a priority for the council and our seek and repair units are touring the borough now, particularly concentrating on housing estates.

"Residents are also invited to help us by continuing to call or email the council's highways customer services desk.

"If you spot a pothole problem, please let us know.

"So far this winter we have had 111 potholes reported to the council and all those meeting the criteria have been repaired within a day."

Residents can report potholes by calling 01582 510333, emailing highway.maintenance@luton.gov.uk.

Green campaigner wins £2,500 grant

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN AIRPORT worker has been awarded £2,500 to launch a project aimed at encouraging residents in the town to recycle and live a healthier lifestyle.

Lucia Poliovkova, from High Town, was given the money as part of mobile phone company O2's Think Big initiative.

The 25-year-old, who works in Marks & Spencer at Luton Airport, initially started by using a £300 grant to fund an exhibition of upcycled artwork at the Hat Factory in summer last year.

She had decided to use the exhibition to promote recycling and healthier living.

Lucia said: "I work in a shop at London Luton Airport, and I see how much people throw away, and how they don't think about recycling, especially big food companies."

"I also noticed that many individuals are not thinking about the ways that they can reduce their waste."

"I believe that people probably don't have enough information about tons of plastic pollution in the ocean and on land."

"This is why I'd like to inform people, highlight the problem, and propose suggestions."

HEALTHY LIFESTYLE: Lucia gives her winning presentation to a panel of judges and audience members

"I strongly believe that the situation can be improved even by small changes and broadening the awareness about the topic."

"I think that there is an urgent need to discuss these issues of living a healthy and sustainable lifestyle, and hope that my project will help with this education process."

Lucia plans to use the money to host a series of presentations about living a healthy lifestyle and recycling at The Mall, the University of Bedfordshire, and Luton Airport with the help of a group of ten volunteers.

They are also going to create a series of public art installations from recycled materials, which they hope will make people passing by think about what they throw away.

Bill Eyres, who is head of O2 Think Big initiative said: "Lucia impressed us with her commitment to making a real difference to her local community and we wish her every success in this endeavour."

Community bash for Luton in Harmony

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE chairman of Luton in Harmony (LIH) said it was 'fantastic' to see people from different communities coming together for a celebratory event last week.

Pastor Lloyd Denny, the independent chairman of LIH, spoke after the third birthday celebrations of the community cohesion campaign which was held in The Mall on February 2.

The event was attended by various officials in the town, including the Mayor Syd Knight, Luton MPs Gavin Shaker and Kelvin Hopkins, the Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins and Councillor Sian Timoney, the council's deputy leader.

During the day there were performances from the Dallow Primary School choir, local musician James Deacon and a street dance crew.

Pastor Denny said: "The theme for the day was Luton in Harmony: many voices, one town, which is also our theme for 2013.

"And this was truly reflected by the hundreds of people from different communities coming together and having fun at our birthday celebration.

SWEET TOOTH: The Mayor cuts the birthday cake as celebrations get underway to mark the third anniversary of the Luton in Harmony campaign

"It was fantastic to see so many people signing the pledge committing their support to the campaign.

"This was the best Luton in Harmony birthday celebration ever.

"On behalf of the group I would like to take this opportunity to extend our thanks to everyone who attended and the many people and volunteers who worked so hard to make the event a huge success on the day.

"The challenge now is to keep up the momentum and to strive to help Luton to be a harmonious town where we can live, work and raise a family."

His sentiments were echoed by Mark Broadhead, the general manager for The Mall, who was also at the event.

He said: "The Mall Luton was delighted to support Luton in Harmony's third birthday event and as an active member of the group we are proud to back this all important community event as we will all year round."

Double bill of classic opera features Carmen and Tosca

OPERA

CARMEN & TOSCA

The Grove Theatre, Dunstable

February 21 and February 22, 7.30pm

AWARD-WINNING opera producer Ellen Kent is back and she is bringing the heat of Spain and the passion of Italy into two new productions of Carmen and Tosca.

Reviving her role as promoter after a four-year break, Ellen takes her own shows on the road again and she has chosen the fiery wilfulness of Carmen and Tosca's manipulative melodrama to mark the return of Opera and Ballet International.

Bizet's dramatic and sensuous opera Carmen tells the story of the downfall of soldier Don Jose, who is seduced by the fiery, beautiful and passionate gypsy Carmen. Abandoning both his childhood sweetheart and his military career, Jose pursues Carmen but loses her to the glamorous bullfighter Escamillo. In true tragic operatic fashion, Jose can't bear to be without Carmen, pictured left, and stabs her in a jealous rage.

Puccini's Tosca, right, is no less violent, with torture, murder and suicide alongside some of opera's best-known music. Set in Rome and based on a play by Victorien Sardou, it was once described as a 'shabby little shocker'. Opera diva Floria Tosca fears for the fidelity of her lover Mario, only to discover that it is the Baron Scarpia's lust for her that endangers that love. A complex agreement of bargains and bluffs follow, to the detriment of all, with a truly tragic ending.

The celebrated National Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus of Chisinau perform, alongside international soloists mezzo soprano Nadia Stoianova as Carmen and soprano Elena Dee, reprising her first ever leading operatic role as Tosca.

Ellen said: "I'm starting from scratch with Carmen; there'll be brand new sets influenced by the wonderful paintings of Goya and reflecting the architecture of Seville with its balconies, orange trees, fountains and flowers. It's hot, dusty, Moorish architecture with that amazing coloured stone.

"The costumes will also reflect Goya's paintings of the Spanish people of that era. And of course, it's all set against the backdrop of the bullring."

Tickets start at £17.50 and you can book by calling 01582 602080.

'Dazzling' music to light up your Monday evening

MUSIC

FIBONACCI SEQUENCE

Luton Library Theatre

Tomorrow, 7.30pm

ANOTHER chameleon-like ensemble will be appearing on the Music on Mondays stage at the Library Theatre tomorrow.

On their website, the band lists no fewer than 39 performers, ranging from soprano singers, through the expected strings and woodwind to an accordion player.

And for their Luton concert they have picked oboe, bassoon, clarinet, horn and piano who will appear in varying combinations throughout the evening.

Central to any Fibonacci Sequence concert is their founder-member and pianist Kathron Sturrock.

Kathron and the musicians form an ensemble that has been praised for a 'dazzlingly good chamber ensemble' by The Times newspaper.

One of the less well-known composers on the bill is Herzogenberg, who wrote a variety of music both sacred and for the concert hall; Brahms commented that 'he could do more than all the rest', so his trio for oboe, horn and piano will be worth hearing.

From the 21st century come Century Dances for wind trio by Cecilia McDowall, fashioned to some degree on the model of dance suites of centuries past, but with a modern twist that is all her own.

Mozart and Schumann make a welcome appearance, but something of a rarity is the Glinka Trio Pathétique, at least in its original scoring for clarinet, bassoon and piano, rather than a reworking for violin, cello and piano.

Tickets cost £14 with concessions at £8. You can book by calling 01582 547474.

Full details of the season, along with several offers for reduced tickets can be found on the website - www.lutonmusic.org.uk.

You can book your place by calling the Library Theatre box office on 01582 547474 or pay on the door.

LITERATURE

THE ORCHESTRA MURDERS

WITH two biographical books on Dudley Moore and Chevy Chase under her belt, renowned writer and musician Rena Fruchter now brings you The Orchestra Murders, the first edition of a new murder mystery series.

Aged just six, Rena performed her first solo concerto with The Philadelphia Orchestra, and her career as a pianist has taken her throughout North America, Europe, the Far East, and Australia.

She studied and lived in both London and Philadelphia and her book has been published by Luton-based publisher Andrews UK.

The story begins with superstar conductor Sir Gregory Langhorne and his globe-trotting, violin-soloist son Jonathan. They are the very best of friends – until a savage murder takes place and Jonathan is the prime suspect.

Six years later, Sir Gregory is now the musical director of the world famous Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and has finally reconciled with his son, just as the members begin disappearing one by one.

The challenge for brilliant, young, Philadelphia detective Cynthia Masters is to solve not only the orchestra murders, but the question of why murder appears to follow the Langhornes. Has Masters finally met her match – a case that cannot be solved?

Set between London and Philadelphia, this thrilling narrative consisting of murder, infidelity and the abuse of money and power, establishes Cynthia Masters as a world class detective.

The book costs £8.99 and can be bought at www.andrewsuk.com.

Grimethorpe Colliery Band on its way to The Grove Theatre

MUSIC

THE GRIMETHORPE COLLIERY BAND

The Grove Theatre

Saturday, 7.30pm

THE real stars of the hit movie Brassed Off, the Grimethorpe Colliery Band, appear at The Grove Theatre next weekend.

Having won almost every brass band accolade, these musicians have a highly acclaimed international reputation with numerous TV appearances and recordings to their credit and are in constant demand throughout the world.

The Grimethorpe Colliery Band was formed in 1917, as a leisure activity for the workmen at the colliery.

It was initially financed by the colliery, a sister company, and a welfare fund set up by the miners themselves.

And the musicians, most of whom worked at the colliery full-time, perfected their skills through competition.

From 1932 to 1945 the band entered 42 such competitions, winning 19 and never finishing lower than fifth.

The turning point in Grimethorpe's history came with the appointment of Elgar Howarth as professional conductor and music adviser in 1972.

An outsider to the brass band world, Howarth's association with Grimethorpe was the inspiration behind the commissioning of new works by leading avant garde composers.

The band has commissioned works from such composers as Hans Werner Henze and Sir Harrison Birtwistle.

International fame came to the band with the making of the 1995 film Brassed Off.

The film which starred Ewan McGregor, Pete Postlethwaite and Tara Fitzgerald, told the story of a fictional South Yorkshire village and how the local colliery's band won a national competition only a few days after the closure of the pit was announced.

For the band, which provided the soundtrack music and the extras for the on-screen musicians, the spin-offs have been vast.

Since the release of the film (whose soundtrack was nominated for a BAFTA award) the band has toured extensively in Europe, including a film festival in Norway, the football World Cup in Paris and the Eurovision Song Contest with an estimated television audience of 50 million.

There have also been recent tours of Japan and Australia, New Zealand and Hong Kong.

The band has also recently become the first ever brass band to be an ensemble-in-residence at the Royal College of Music in London.

Tickets start at £19.50 and are on sale online at www.grovetheatre.co.uk or you can book them by telephoning the box office on 01582 602080.

Chantry Primary Academy has an outstanding reputation within our local community, supporting children to achieve excellent outcomes. Ofsted have judged Chantry to be an outstanding school, stating "The school makes a significant difference to the lives of its pupils." Chantry has a very strong inclusive ethos, with 2 special educational provisions. 'New Horizons' supports pupils with Emotional and Behavioural Difficulties, whilst our second provision supports pupils with Visual Impairment.

New Horizons is a highly successful, integrated provision for Key Stage 1 and 2 children with Emotional and Behavioural Difficulties from schools within the West Area Partnership in Luton. New Horizons provides a full time equivalent of 6 places and a range of additional outreach services and support for schools. Placements are 'revolving door', with children returning to their 'base school' when ready. This provision is fully integrated within Chantry, with provision staff working flexibly within mainstream classrooms, alongside other school staff.

As Team Leader, your key responsibilities include assessing and evaluating the needs of individual pupils within their school setting and considering the best way forward, making recommendations and providing advice. You will also be responsible for the day-to-day management of the provision, ensuring that children both working within the provision and those receiving outreach have appropriate support in place and full access to a broad and balanced education. You will work directly with the school's Strategic Leadership Team, Headteachers within the Area Partnership, professionals within pupils' base schools, other local provisions and relevant outside agencies.

You will be:

- An experienced teacher who is highly motivated and ready for a challenge
- Keen to make a difference to children's lives
- Able to inspire pupils through your commitment and enthusiasm
- Values led, with a positive approach

Join us for an unforgettable journey through America's musical heartland, from the undisputed capital of Country Music to the cradle of the blues and Dixieland jazz, via the birthplace of the 'King' and the Tennessee city in which he made his home, and where rock 'n' roll was born some 60 years ago!

Beginning in Georgia, and then sweeping through Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, you'll discover the world of WC Handy, Robert Johnson, 'Fats' Domino, Patsy Cline, Dolly Parton and, of course, Elvis Presley. Explore fabled New Orleans, with its unique brand of jazz and fabled French Quarter; visit Tupelo, where the 'King' was born in 1935: take in Memphis, site of legendary Sun Studio, home to Stax Records, famous Beale Street and Graceland, and explore Nashville, home to the Grand Ole Opry and the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Against a background that stretches from the flat Mississippi Delta, through cotton fields to the wooded hills of Tennessee, down to the Gulf of Mexico and back through Alabama, and infused throughout with the magic and mystique, the sights and especially the sounds of the South, this is a truly wonderful holiday to savour and enjoy.

PART EX-CHANGE

SEAT has made only the most half-hearted of attempts to disguise the fact that its Exeo saloon is a previous generation Audi A4. That shouldn't worry buyers to whom the Exeo delivers Audi engineering and build quality at a distinctly SEAT price.

The Exeo is powered by the familiar Volkswagen group engines that crop up in SEAT's other larger models. The 2.0-litre TDI common-rail injection diesel unit is sure to be a popular choice. Particularly in 168bhp form, this is a real cracker, blending pace very effectively with low running costs. 118bhp and 143bhp versions are also on offer. It's inside where the Exeo really impresses because SEAT has put a big 'S' on the steering wheel and changed virtually nothing else. This may be the old A4 cabin but it's still superbly built and beautifully understated in the best Audi traditions. In a car from the Exeo's family saloon sector of the market, it feels very special indeed. The modern engines in the Exeo should return healthy fuel economy and low emissions. The 2.0 TDI common rail diesel unit can put out as little as 129g/km of CO2 and return up to 58.9mpg on the combined cycle.

These figures are even better in the Ecomotive version thanks to Start/Stop technology, a car that can return under 120g/km of CO2.

Club Lewsey exit

MARK Ponte was left to wonder what might have been after his Club Lewsey side were denied a place in the quarter finals of the FA Sunday Cup by a last-gasp goal away to Lebeq's Tavern Courage.

The Luton-based team had been leading 3-2 with ten minutes remaining, but a controversial penalty decision saw their opponents from Bristol level the scores before snatching a 90th minute winner from a corner. It means Lewsey will not be in the last eight for the third time in as many seasons.

Beds U18s in semi

BEDFORDSHIRE Under-18s are just one win away from reaching the final of the FA County Youth Cup, after a thrilling extra-time victory over Norfolk.

The Under-18 side recovered from conceding an 89th-minute equaliser to clinch a 3-2 win thanks to a free-kick five minutes from time from Leigh Stevens. The side, jointly managed by Jon Reed and Iain Rennie, now face Wiltshire in the semi-final on February 23.

Leicestershire & Rutland, Liverpool, West Riding or Manchester will play the winners

Logan strike in vain

BEDFORDSHIRE Under-16s will just be playing for pride when they face Cambridgeshire in the final East Anglian Counties championship match later this month.

The team, jointly managed by Steve Damon and Jim Duffield, lost 3-1 to Hertfordshire at the County Ground in Letchworth on Sunday and will hope to beat Cambridgeshire on February 28th at Kempston Rovers FC to avoid finishing bottom. Dylan Logan scored his fourth goal of the campaign to give Beds the lead against Herts.

Meade on mend

LUTON's Jernade Meade stepped up his recovery from an ankle ligament injury yesterday by running for the first time.

The 20-year-old Arsenal left-back has been sidelined since Christmas after sustaining the injury in a crossing and shooting drill. He had feared he had broken his ankle but a scan revealed ligament damage.

He was on crutches but is now back on the training field and keen to get back to full fitness so he can go out on loan for more experience. Meade's contract at Arsenal expires in the summer.

Twitter rage for boss

PAUL Buckle has launched a withering attack on his players using Twitter, believing many are spending more time on the social networking site than the training field and proposing a club ban.

The vast majority of Buckle's squad are users of Twitter while there is a parody account set up in the manager's name which has more than 900 followers.

A father of two teenage daughters, Buckle recognises its role in society but feels it is not the platform for players to air grievances, become involved in a feud and risk bringing the club into disrepute. "I don't understand it," Buckle said. "I think it's a big weakness with players if they want to tell the world what's gone wrong or what's happened."

TWO red cards and a missed penalty were the story of a lively encounter as Luton Town slipped further behind the Blue Square Bet Premier pacesetters after a 1-1 draw against Forest Green Rovers at Kenilworth Road.

Andre Gray went from hero to villain after breaking the deadlock inside five minutes with a penalty miss shortly after but the game changed pace in the second half as the dismissals of Alex Lawless and Rovers' midfielder Al Bangura shaped a disappointing afternoon for the Hatters.

Town manager Paul Buckle was infuriated by his side's 1-0 defeat at Barrow last Saturday and was insistent in midweek that he would ring the changes come this must-win match against Forest Green.

However only Arnaud Mendy, left-back Greg Taylor and the suspended Lathaniel Rowe-Turner were absent for the Hatters.

David Hockaday's men boast the best away record in the Blue Square Bet Premier, with eight wins in 16 matches, but they found themselves behind after just five minutes.

Good work from David Martin allowed Andre Gray, returning from England C duty in midweek, to give the home side the dream start.

Martin, who signed in the latter stages of the January transfer window on a free transfer after release from League Two Southend United, found Gray with a deliciously weighted left-wing cross and the striker bundled the ball over the line.

A fresh vibrant side, unrecognisable to the side that lost so tamely at Barrow, looked energised but were soon to be pegged back, with a lapse of concentration from a set piece again proving their undoing.

Rovers' top scorer Yan Klukowski turned provider for once, delivering a perfectly-weighted free kick which was headed past the sprawling Mark Tyler by the smallest man in the box, Matt Taylor. Jake Howells was culpable for losing his man.

"It is a situation where you have got to take your man and stop them from scoring and Jake will know that," Buckle said.

The goal lifted Rovers as they pressed on searching for the second while Luton were left to regroup.

Forster makes it hat-trick of penalty saves

BARTON Rovers were thankful to stand-in goalkeeper Kyle Forster for a point as they threw away a two-goal lead at Northwood in the Evo-Stik Central Division.

Rovers took the lead in the third minute when Bilal Hassan, making his first start since returning to the club last month, drove home powerfully.

Hassan was again quickest out of the blocks at the start of the second half, picking up a pass from Niran Vaughan and sliding the ball home from a narrow angle to make the score 2-0 in the 47th minute.

A header from Nico Muir got Northwood back into the game and they had a great chance to equalise just a few minutes later when Vaughan gave away a penalty for a push in the box.

Forster, who has saved spot kicks in his last two matches, saved again diving low to his right to keep the score at 2-1.

It took a late long-range shot from George Nicholas for Northwood to equalise but Barton had a chance to snatch the win when Aaron Lansiquot saw his effort cleared off the line moments later.

Forster, who only came into the team last month after a hand injury to Richard Wilmot, was a deserved man of the match and leaves Dan Kennoy with a tough selection decision when Wilmot returns.

After a month without any league action, Dunstable Town grabbed their second 6-0 victory in five days in the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division with victory against Stotfold.

Having thrashed title challengers St Margaretsbury in midweek, Nathan Frater hit Stotfold after just two minutes and further first-half goals from Moses Olaleye and Tony Fontanelle put the result beyond doubt by half time.

Lee Roache grabbed a brace in the second half to give him 38 goals this season and the scoring was completed late on through Mick Jackson.

AFC Dunstable fell to a 3-2 defeat at Berkhamsted despite a performance that deserved at least a point.

Lee Burgoyne missed a 15th-minute penalty before AFC went a goal down. A fine Craig Butler free kick brought them back on level terms but they conceded again just before half time to trail 2-1.

AFC forced a number of chances and equalised with another Butler free kick on 65 minutes. The point AFC deserved was thrown away though with 10 minutes to go when Mike Kinlock handled in the area and Berkhamsted scored the resulting penalty.

Crawley Green kept up the pressure towards the top of Division One with a last-gasp win at home against Sun Postal.

Liam Stapleton fired Sun Postal, the Watford side, ahead in the 46th minute but Crawley got back on terms almost immediately.

Jamie Warne broke down the left straight from the kick-off and his looping cross curled into the net to equalise.

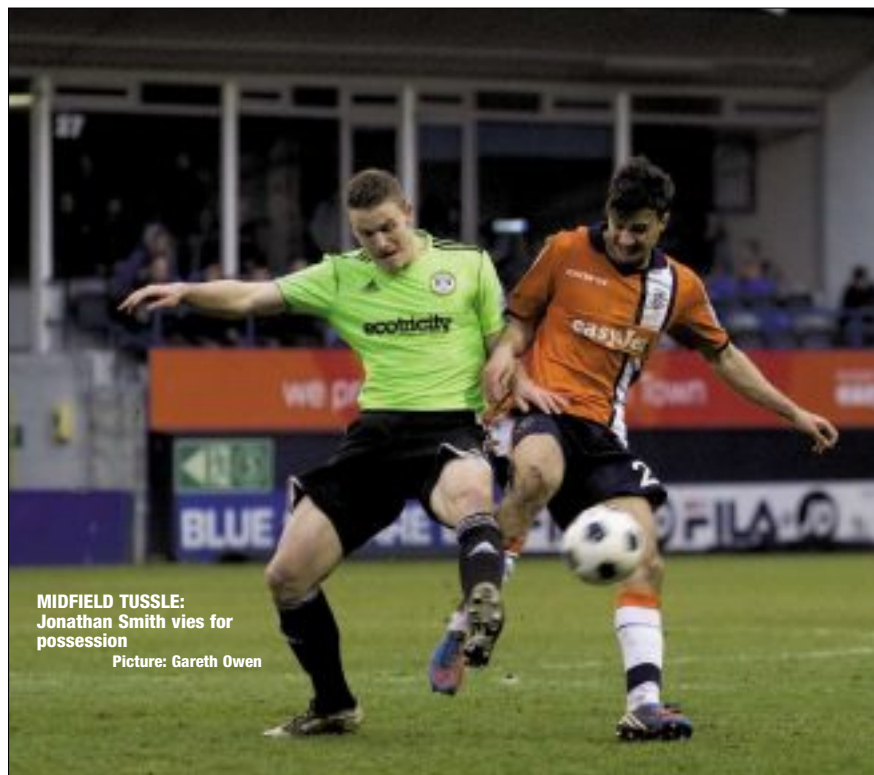

With both teams chasing the win, it remained level until the final minute when Peter O'Donnell slipped the ball through to Chris Gibson who scored past the advancing keeper to give Crawley Green the points.

applied a vital interception to thwart a Rovers attack as the Hatters gained momentum again. Jon Shaw should have done better from a Howells' corner as he placed the ball wide with the goal at his mercy.

The striker then almost made amends as he forced a good save from Russell at his near post as home pressure grew.

Then came a turning point when Gray skied a penalty in the 36th minute after he had been fouled by Eddie Oshodi, the former England youth international, just inside the box.

Buckle may have been satisfied with his side's first-half showing but the opening nine minutes of the second left him seething.

The home crowd had not warmed to the referee all game and they were further annoyed with the dismissal of Alex Lawless.

Lawless had been arguably Town's best player in the first half but two fouls in the space of 90 seconds saw him heading to the changing rooms with a little more than half an hour to play. An incensed Kenilworth Road faithful became Luton's eleventh man yet the numerical advantage was restored on 66 minutes when the referee showed Bangura a red.

A hefty challenge on Gray by Bangura, the former Watford midfielder, led to a heated exchange between the pair with a 20-man melee ensuing.

The Luton striker was given just a telling off while Bangura was given his marching orders.

With the crowd finding their voice once more Luton pressed for the winner.

First Janos Kovacs was denied by the Rovers woodwork and Shaw again missed a golden opportunity to steal the three points.

With the quality slowly dissipating as the clock edged towards the final whistle, a Chris Stokes 30-yarder represented the last chance of a entertaining affair.

"We are going up" taunted the 110 travelling Forest Green Rovers. Boos reverberated around Kenilworth Road as the Luton players left the field they knew this was two points lost.

Sending off fails to stop Luton from claiming win

RUGBY UNION

BY TIM BARTLETT

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON made hard work of the points yesterday afternoon, beating Basildon 36-20 at home despite being reduced to 14 men.

Luton were not at their vintage best but they took the lead early in the game from a Steven Ellis try. But they failed to go on and assert any dominance over their guests, with Basildon looking good value for their 10-8 half-time lead.

"At half time the forwards were told to move the ball away, and the backs to engage the opposition, be more direct and keep the lines straight," Luton coach Nick Rhodes said.

The home side looked focussed and purposeful in the second period, but it was the controversial sending off of Luton's skipper Jack Elstow, for what Rhodes described as "over-zealous rucking" that proved to be the turning point in the game.

"We got angry," said Rhodes.

Luton responded immediately with a Tesh Edwards try, the winger pouncing on a loose ball in the visitors' 22. Minutes later Aiden Kenny added a third try to open up a 12-point lead as the home side started to find their rhythm.

Two more tries from Kenny and Edwards made sure of the league bonus point. Eleven points from the boot of Rik Hobbs added the gloss.

Red card frustrates Luton boss

FOOTBALL

BY TOM SHARP

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON Town manager Paul Buckle was left bemoaning a decision to send off one of his players for the second successive week as the Hatters missed the chance to make up ground on the promotion chasers yesterday.

Alex Lawless will now join Lathaniel Rowe-Turner on the suspension list after he was shown two yellow cards in quick succession yesterday.

The one-match ban will rule him out of the match with Dartford on Tuesday. Buckle left the field exchanging words with referee Nick Kinsey who, after also showing a red card to Al Bangura, has now sent off nine players in as many games.

"I did not think it was a sending off," said Buckle.

"I think in a game of this magnitude common sense should prevail. It was a shoulder-to-shoulder in the corner. It was nothing dirty.

"Alex is not that type of player. No-one could believe it in the ground."

The draw leaves Luton 14 points adrift of leaders Grimsby and six points off the fourth play-off spot. It would have been a different story had Andre Gray not missed a first-half penalty.

"The players kept going all day," said Buckle.

"Even for that short period when we were down a man we looked the more dangerous.

"I am absolutely delighted with the input from the players. They have given me everything and that is all I can ask for."

Gray had practised penalties on Friday so it was a surprise when he missed.

"We battled hard but we just could not break them down at the end," said Gray.

"If chances go our way then we would be picking up the three points but we just fell short."

Taylor in line for Lions tie

FOOTBALL

BY KEVIN AFFLECK

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

PAUL BUCKLE held clear the air talks with Greg Taylor on Friday after appearing to cast the defender into the wilderness this week.

The defender was dropped to the bench for yesterday's game with Forest Green Rovers following a mistake at Barrow the manager labelled "dreadful".

Buckle appeared to cast doubt over the future at the club of the Bedford left-back when he claimed this week he had tried "everything" to integrate the 23-year-old into his plans.

Taylor looked all set to be marginalised for the second time this season – he spent a period on loan at Tamworth late last year – and may well have been dropped from the squad yesterday had Simon Ainge and Wayne Thomas been available.

But Buckle included Taylor on the bench and could even pitch him back into the fray for the FA Cup game with Millwall on Saturday.

The manager is understood to have told Taylor yesterday he feels his skill set is more suited to the Championship than the Blue Square Bet Premier, citing the clean sheets Taylor helped keep against Wolves and Norwich.

The science behind losing Inches & feeling great!

Non-Surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction from The Rapid Inch Loss Clinic makes losing inches easy, especially from stubborn fatty areas like your belly, hips, arms and legs. Better still, it's fast, 100% pain free and can allow you to reach your ideal size in as few as 12 sessions.

Good vibrations

The treatment works using ultrasonic technology similar to that used in ultrasound scanning machines. The frequency of the sound wave targets fat cells, causing them to turn into a liquefied state. This liquid fat then drains away via the body's lymphatic system over the next 72 hours leaving treated areas with a flatter and firmer appearance.

The difference between The Rapid Inch Loss Clinic's Non-Surgical Ultrasonic Liposuction and surgical ultrasonic liposuction is we allow the body to naturally filter the liquid fat instead of making incisions in the patient and using a tool to suck the fat out which can cause pain, bruising and scars.

100% pain free

Our treatments are 100% pain free – in fact you will only feel a pleasant warming sensation as the ultrasound gets to work on your unwanted fat cells.

THE rapidinchloss CLINIC

One of our success stories...

Who: Leslie Carey, 39

Where: The Rapid Inch Loss Clinic Nuneaton

When: 6 Weeks, June 2011

What Happened: Leslie had Ultrasonic Liposuction on her stomach and inner thigh but only lost  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch after 1st visit. She then lost 2  $\frac{1}{2}$  inches after her 2nd visit, before losing 16 inches in total over the course of her therapy.

How: We focussed Ultrasonic Liposuction on Leslie's inner thigh and stomach once a week (1 session on each area) for 6 weeks. After her 1st session Leslie ate take away food on 4 of the evenings, as well as drinking several pints of beer most nights. This resulted in slow progress. However, after only losing  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch in week 1, Leslie decided to drink a little more moderately, ate more balanced meals and as a result she then lost 2  $\frac{1}{2}$  inches between her 2nd & 3rd treatments. Leslie then resolved to adjust her lifestyle, she started eating & drinking in moderation, while making an effort to be more active generally. Leslie went on to lose 16 inches in total over her course which took in 12 sessions each on her stomach & inner thighs.

Why was Ultrasonic Liposuction Needed: Leslie has a demanding job as a director of an engineering firm, this lead to Leslie having a poor diet of take away food & beer, with little activity in her daily life due to a lack of time. Leslie arrived for her 1st session as a size 16, standing at 5' 6" tall

Where are they now: After achieving her target size and shape Leslie had lost 16 inches from her stomach and inner thigh. After completing her course and armed with her improved lifestyle and body shape Leslie felt inspired to take up Exercise! She began walking 3 evenings a week and therefore needed no more sessions to maintain her new size and shape!
